

2017 – SEPTEMBER - FFF NEWSLETTER

Hello Fragrance Free Friends !

You're probably wondering what happened to us. Personally, as Newsletter writer and Admin Ass't, I started having computer problems as far back as February and it has taken 3 technicians, a new computer, many dollars and most of this time to get things sorted out enough to be able to finally get an FFF newsletter to you... Phew! what an adventure So on to the news from some of our members...

Your best knowledge will come from the best information. Be attentive when visiting websites that offer info about Multiple Chemical Sensitivities. We, as Canaries, all react differently to different chemicals, at different times, in different doses, in different locations, under different circumstances... this being the major reason for the difficulties in assessing the symptoms and why studies are inconclusive. This is not to say to stop educating yourself about what you and others can do to alleviate the personal symptoms of MCS. We all now know that this is a global health issue that still needs to be addressed by medical and health professionals. So, continue to educate yourselves and support the agencies/organizations that are working hard to make MCS understood, recognized, treated and eventually to stop the use of dangerous chemicals in our environment and in us.

I wish you all a safe, healthy and gloriously colourful Fall! Don't forget to view our attached catalog for items that you can use, out there in the 'odorous' world.
